Description

This lovely painting is John Harvey reminiscing about times gone by oil on canvas. As a child John dreamed of going sailing on one of those boats. John Harvey, Cornish artist, born in the North of England. John Harvey paints and draws memories of childhood filled with warmth and love. He changes the dark, grey buildings into places full of happy carefree times, when shopping for the bread or meat for Sunday lunch was the most important thing in his or any child's life - memories all of us can identify with. His Harbour views, are memories full of joy and excitement, that of a little boy imagining voyages on the boats. To purchase this painting ring 07913848515 or click on our website
