Description

This beautiful bronze stands as testament to Livio Benedetti since the his sad loss in 2013. It was created in an edition of 46 (in memory of the year of his birth), is an exact replica of a much larger piece made during his lifetime and comes direct from his studio. Livio Benedetti, born 1946 of Italian parents lived in France. Livio Benedetti is one of the most revered contemporary sculptors in France today; travelling through France one will often come across his exquisite public pieces; Livio used one of the finest foundries in France to cast his wonderful sculptures, ("Barthelemy Fonderie", South France) and this is still being continued today. The foundry uses traditional methods assuring perfect results for his wonderful sculptures. His work is held in many private collections, internationally.
